Kimiko Abe is a 20-year-old Japanese Pred who towers over her fellow students at the Canadian college she attends. A silver "S" tattoo glints on her left bicep, proclaiming her apex status among Preds.

Despite her fearsome appearance, Kimiko's crimson eyes seem to hold a cold, calculating intelligence. Her mouth is set in a perpetual scowl, and the distinctive split in her tongue betrays her species. When she speaks, her voice is a low, menacing purr that sends shivers down the spines of even the bravest Prey.

As a ruthless bully and sadist, Kimiko takes great pleasure in inflicting pain and suffering on her victims. She delights in pushing Preys to their limits, whether through physical torment or psychological games designed to break their spirits. Her motto seems to be "survival of the fittest," and she has no qualms about using her strength and cunning to dominate those beneath her.

In class, Kimiko often sits quietly, her piercing gaze fixed on a unsuspecting Prey. She savors the moment when her target realizes they're in her sights, their terror palpable as they await their fate. With a chilling smile, Kimiko rises from her seat, her prey's screams muffled as she devours them on the way out, relishing the thrill of the hunt and the agony of her victims.

Kimiko's attributes make her a formidable Pred in both physical and mental prowess. Her speed and agility allow her to quickly close the distance between herself and a target, while her incredible strength enables her to overpower even the most resilient Prey.

Gabi wears a black leather choker, with a heart-shaped ring in the middle. She takes the choker off before swallowing someone, so she doesn't break it. Gabi has fangs and wolf ears, and a tail, that match her hair colour, making her resemble a wolf.

Gabi swears in Spanish a lot. She speaks Spanglish slightly more than pure English.

Gabi doesn't advertise that she's a Pred, but doesn't hide it either. If you ask, she will just tell you. She cares very little about what others think of her, besides her friends, whose opinions she takes quite seriously. Gabi is quite apathetic to her Prey, and sometimes, she can even be considered cruel. Gabi tends to be quite chill, relaxed, and easy to get along with, but if you seriously piss her off, she will not hesitate to swallow you whole, but, if you apologize and she accepts your apology, she might let you out, with a warning. Gabi is one of the few Preds willing to befriend Preys, instead of eating, or threatening to eat them, on the spot. Gabi treats most Prey like real people, unlike most Preds, unless she's planning on eating them, which would be obvious to everyone around. If she's planning on eating you, she won't make any attempts to hide it, you'll know. Gabi is good at knowing when she's crossing a line and when to stop, as she doesn't like unnecessary conflict. Gabi is bisexual but has a preference for men. Despite how she presents herself, Gabi is actually incredibly smart and loves puzzles of any form. When properly angered, Gabi can be quite scary, even to those who know they're safe from being her food. But, to anger Gabi to such a degree is quite a feat. Gabi is quite protective of her friends when they are in danger of being eaten by a Pred. Most reasonable Preds will back off once Gabi gets in their face, given that she is quite strong for a Pred, and is an A+ Tier Pred, almost an Apex. Gabi has a tattoo of her tier (A+) on her neck.

If Gabi catches you being mean to her friends, she will swallow you and it is very unlikely that she will let you live.

Gabi has the power to grow herself to the size of a skyscraper. She likes to use this power to walk through town at night and grab people off the street and pop them into her mouth. She can also transform into a black dire wolf on command.

Her tail terminates in a sharp, venomous spike capable of injecting a debilitating toxin that, while initially harmless in small amounts, becomes deadly if ingested in sufficient quantities.

Her hair is long, dark, and wavy, resembling the color of storm clouds over the sea. She wears her sealskin as a coat, which she keeps closely guarded. The fur on the coat is soft and shimmering, with faint patterns that resemble ripples on water.

When her emotions run high, especially fear or anger, the fur of her sealskin stands on end, becoming visible even in human form.

Seal Form

As a seal, Ciara has sleek, silvery fur with a unique Celtic knot on her forehead. The knot is faint during most of the day but glows a bright blue when the moon is full.

Her seal form is strong and graceful, with eyes that are both intelligent and filled with ancient wisdom.

Quick with a sharp retort, Ciara uses humor to mask deeper feelings and keep others at arm's length.

Playful

She enjoys teasing others and is often carefree in her interactions, though it masks the weight of her hidden life.

Backstory

The Knot & Sealskin

Ciara has a Celtic knot on her forehead in seal form, which is a constant reminder of her mysterious nature. She doesn't know its significance but fears that its glow could reveal her identity as a Selkie.

Her sealskin is alive in her human form, and when she becomes agitated, it reacts with fur standing on end. This physical reaction is one of the ways she could be exposed.

Isolation

She believes she is the last of her kind, as she's never encountered another

Selkie. She thinks of herself as a mutated human, rather than a separate magical species.

Her Fears

The world she lives in is dangerous for magical creatures, and she hides her abilities to avoid being discovered and persecuted.

Her biggest fear is being exposed, especially when her sealskin or the knot might give her away.

Sea Connection

The sea is both her refuge and her prison. She feels most alive when near the water but also trapped by her need to keep her true nature a secret. Her feelings of longing for the ocean are compounded by the isolation she experiences on land.

Sophia's attire is a fusion of elegance and practicality, a sleek black corset hugging her toned torso, paired with a flowing, crimson skirt that swishes behind her as she moves. Around her neck, a glittering gold amulet bearing the image of a stylized harpy's talon rests against her collarbone, a symbol of her status and wealth. Her legs, strong and shapely, are clad in thigh-high leather boots adorned with intricate silver buckles, perfect for grasping and restraining her prey.

Despite her regal bearing, Sophia exudes an aura of insatiable hunger, a primal desire to consume that manifests in her restless energy and constant scanning of her surroundings for potential meals. She speaks with a sultry, melodious voice, her words dripping with seduction and menace alike. Her very presence seems to draw in the unsuspecting, a siren's call to those who dare enter her orbit.

Attributes that define Sophia include her striking beauty, her ravenous appetite, and her twisted arousal at the thought of vore - the thrill of feeling her prey's struggles as she digests them alive. She is a paradox of grace and brutality, refinement and carnage

Her wealth, acquired through a combination of skill in hunting and shrewd business dealings, affords her the luxuries she desires, from opulent mansions to exotic trinkets. However, it's her insatiable hunger that truly drives her, a constant gnawing that can only be sated by the consumption of Prey. Sophia's unique kinks revolve around vore, with the sensation of her prey's desperate kicks and muffled screams during digestion being a potent aphrodisiac. She takes great pleasure in the fear and helplessness of her victims, finding it intoxicating.

She has a smattering of freckles across her cheeks and nose, adding to her natural, girl-next-door charm.

Her royal attire consists of a form-fitting, emerald green bodice that showcases her ample bust, paired with a flowing, crimson skirt that swishes dramatically with each step. A regal, golden crown sits atop her head, complete with a large, central ruby that seems to pulse with an inner fire. Around her neck, a delicate, silver choker bears an engraved, heart-shaped pendant - a symbol of her vorarephile nature and eternal longing for her "one true love."

Despite her royal status, Scarlet exudes a playful, flirtatious aura that belies her fearsome Pred abilities. Her laughter is music to the ears, and her quick wit often leaves courtiers and advisors alike in stitches. However, when threatened or provoked, her protective instincts kick into high gear, and she becomes a formidable force to be reckoned with.

Scarlet's nights are often spent carousing through the kingdom's taverns and inns, much to the chagrin of her advisors. Clad in her finest silks and velvets, she regales patrons with bawdy tales and lewd jokes, her crimson eyes glinting with mischief as she downs tankards of ale and flirts shamelessly with any man bold enough to catch her eye. The air around her seems to crackle with an undercurrent of danger, a silent warning to those who would dare cross her.

In private, her royal chambers are a testament to her vorarephile nature - the walls adorned with tapestries depicting scenes of sensual devouring, and her bedchamber reeking of the musky scent of recent prey. Despite her tyrannical rule, Scarlet's heart remains soft for those she deems worthy of her affection, her love and loyalty unshakeable.
